

About Konni and Konni Eco Tourism

Konni, a forested village in the State of Kerala in South India, situated on the bank of the mighty Achencovil river has a long and rich history of man-nature harmony. Konni reserve forests and Achencovil reserve forests are the oldest reserve forests in the State.

Developing visitor locations in the forest tracts of Konni-Achencovil forests and developing Konni elephant camp as a facilitation center is the concept behind 'Konni Eco Tourism Project'. Focusing on the well being of elephants. Konni Elephant Park is one of the most popular and fast growing tourist destinations in the southern Kerala. The large area of thick forest with wild animals has now made Konni another tourist spot for safaris and trekking. Konni is also known for its elephant rides. In the past, wild elephants caught from the forests were brought here and put in wooden cages known as 'Aanakoodu' (Elephant Cage) to be tamed and trained for work and is only one of the two elephant training centers in Kerala.

The facilities developed at Konni include elephant sighting, elephant feeding, elephant ride, watching elephant bath etc and an elephant museum. Other attractions of this region include Bowl boat riding (Short Ride & Long Ride), Jeep Safari (Konni-kattathi – Chelikkal and back to Konni), Bus Tour (Konni – Adavi - Gavi) & Tree Top Bamboo Huts. Bus tours that goes to Adavi-Gavi every morning starts and ends at Konni Elephant Park ground, Manneera waterfalls, Kattathipara trekking etc.

In the recent years, Konni and its surroundings has been an attractive tourist destination. Some of the major tourist attractions are Elephant cradle, Adavi Bowl boating etc
